Camellia Flowered Begonias

See illustration on back

Camellia Flowered Begonias can be just as large, beautiful and double as the illustration on the reverse side of this folder and they have a delicacy that no illustration can capture, but they will bloom satisfactorily only if they are started early enough to produce blooms before the advent of hot weather. Since they cannot stand frost, this means that they must be started indoors

They need lots of light but must not be permitted to become over-heated. In many respects they require care similar to African Violets.

If the bulbs are started too late and bloom after the weather gets warm, the blooms will be small and single.

GLADIOLI BULBS

WHAT SIZE SHOULD GLADIOLI BULBS BE?

Bulbs the size of a dime usually advertised as being blooming size and about 2 inches in circumference are almost worthless. They will produce a few small blooms, but are generally altogether unsatisfactory. Jumbo bulbs larger than a silver dollar are usually old worn-out bulbs which may produce a good bloom the first year, but usually have little life in them.

The best size Gladioli bulb is one ranging in size from the size of a quarter to the size of a 50¢ piece, with a thickness almost as great as the diameter. Such bulbs are large enough to produce a high quality bloom but young enough to continue to give blooms for a number of years. This is the size bulb we sell and although you pay less and get trash, or pay more and get jumbo's you can't buy better bulbs at any price.

ALL GLADS WILL BE PACKED 20 IN A BAG. NO BAGS WILL BE SPLIT.
